HEALTH CARE REFORM UPDATE June 17th, 2013

Leading the News

HHS Releases Proposed Rule on Exchange Implementation

On June 14th, CMS released a proposed rule with program integrity guidelines for the Health Insurance Marketplace. Among other things, the proposed rule requires all qualified health plans to accept additional payment options for premiums including money orders, cashier's checks, and prepaid cards. By allowing these additional forms of payment, CMS is seeking to assuage concerns that underbanked consumers can still purchase health coverage with federal subsidies through online insurance marketplaces. In addition, the proposed rule would:

- Ensure that data sharing requirements will not apply for states opting to only run the SHOP exchange while HHS operates the individual exchange. Utah is the only state that has such a system.
- Build on existing standards for agents and brokers by clarifying the pathways through which they can help consumers and small businesses in Federally-facilitated Marketplaces.
- Establish standards for HHS-approved enrollee satisfaction surveys.

SCOTUS Rules on Pay-for-Delay

On June 17th the Supreme Court ruled that federal regulators can sue drug companies for antitrust violations occurring when brand-name drug companies pay generic competitors to keep competing, cheaper drugs off the market. Federal Trade Commission v. Actavis was heard in October 2012 and was decided in a 5 to 3 vote with Justices Beyer, Kennedy, Ginsburg, Sotomayor, and Kagan in the majority and Justice Alito abstaining.
