

ML Strategies Weekly Health Care Preview - Week of November 13th

November 13, 2017 || By

It's all about tax reform in Congress. This week, the House will look to pass its version of tax reform while the Senate begins marking up its package. Meanwhile, the end of the year is fast approaching and there are number of issues, including the health care minibus, that will need to be addressed. How Congress juggles the competing priorities and deadlines will be on display this week. You can read about this and more in the preview by clicking here.

Authors